

A PATH TO VIETNAM'S SUSTAINABLE ECONOMIC LEADERSHIP

Một đường dẫn đến kinh tế bền vững của Việt Nam Phát triển Lãnh đạo

Addressing Environment and Climate Change Needs
in Vietnam

HANOI AND HO CHI MINH CITY - MAY 2010

Solutions and Partnerships: Building on Success, Building for the Future

Join the Intersection between Vietnam's Economic Development and the Environment

Building on previous events and cooperation, this Forum brings together leaders from Vietnam and U.S. government, business, academia and NGOs. Hear critical stakeholders discussing Vietnam's environment and climate change needs as a means to achieve the goal of becoming Southeast Asia's destination of choice for business and tourism.

Advancing Understanding and Cooperation

Hear Vietnam, American and foreign donor public and private sector views:

Vietnam has been growing at breakneck speed over the past decade. Vietnam's phenomenal growth has come at a price as pollution, water and energy shortages are now impacting Vietnam's future. Vietnam continues to adapt to the World Trade Organization's standards requirements to ensure its future attractiveness as a foreign direct investment location and for its global export markets. Environmental standards are continuing to emerge as Vietnam grapples with its pollution problems and sustainable energy needs.

FORUM AT-A-GLANCE:

- Overview of Vietnam's Economic Goals and The Impact of WTO
- Vietnam's "Vision Towards 2020"
- State of the Environment: Opportunities for Sustainable Growth in Vietnam
- The Toll of Extreme Weather Events Affecting Vietnam's Economic Goals
- Science and Technologies for Measuring, Monitoring and Control
- Public-Private Roundtable Discussion on Viable Projects
- Financing Tools for Vietnam's Environment and Climate Change Needs
